

At Waterous, we take pride in helping our fellow firefighters stay safe. So, when you purchase a Waterous pump not only do you get a quality product, you get a legendary service partnership. In this industry timing is critical. You rely on your pumps to get the job done, so it's our job to make sure your equipment is ready when you need it. We are dedicated to our product's performance, which is why we back all of our products with an exclusive, industry-leading warranty. Between our skilled service technicians, our product specialists and our Mobile Demonstration Instructors, we're always prepared to help with any technical questions or help you specify the right pump for the job.
